Supporting the success of SAIT students and alumni

The SAIT Alumni and Development team is here to support you, from orientation to graduation.

Get the most out of your time at SAIT by joining us for special networking and volunteer opportunities. The Alumni and Development team offers:

- Networking events for SAIT students that will connect you with your industry — a great way to learn more about your future career. Who knows? Maybe you’ll meet a future employer.

- Award assistance labs to make your experience of the student award application process as easy as possible. Each lab will connect you with staff who can answer your questions and help you get started. See page 77 of this guide or search for Student Awards on sait.ca to find the lab schedule.

- Personalized SAIT business cards for students and alumni — great for handing out at networking events. You’ll receive 50 cards for $5 and you can order online at sait.imodules.com/BCP2019.

- Part-time job opportunities on campus through the Student Calling Program, which offers flexible hours and competitive pay. For more information, please email student.calling@sait.ca or call 403.774.5020.

Once you graduate, you become an important member of the SAIT alumni family. You’ll join more than 247,000 alumni whose skills, innovation and creativity are strengthening communities in Canada and in 87 countries around the world.

Good luck with your studies. We can’t wait to celebrate your successes.

Please keep in touch with us!

Scholarships and Bursaries at SAIT

A student award can help you achieve your goals. SAIT is proud to offer more than $5 million in scholarships and bursaries to students in almost every program, and you’ll find complete details in this guide.

Whether you are starting your very first semester or getting ready to graduate, awards are available to all qualifying SAIT students.

Some awards recognize your academic success and other awards recognize your community involvement. But every award has been created because of generous donations from SAIT alumni, faculty and staff as well as corporate partners and friends. And every student award is dedicated to helping SAIT students find success.

I encourage you to apply for a student award. You’ll find everything you need to know about the application process in this guide. You can also attend our helpful award assistance labs to learn about the process in person — see page 77 for more information.

If you receive an award, please help us and future students by thanking the donor or sponsor who provided the funds. Your award confirmation email will include suggestions for how you can say “thank you” either in person or online. Then watch your student email for invitations to our student awards celebrations throughout the year. Each celebration is a meaningful way to express your gratitude — and a smart way to make a great impression and connect with hundreds of influential SAIT donors, sponsors and potential employers.

Those who graduate from SAIT join a network of more than 247,000 proud alumni — people who are making a difference in their communities and around the world.

From the moment you arrive on campus, the Alumni and Development team will do all we can to support you and your career goals. We’re here to help — if you have questions or just want to connect, send us an email at alumni@sait.ca. We’d also love to meet you. Drop by the Student Awards window (AA113) in Heritage Hall to say hello.

I wish you a great year and continued success.

Award Categories

SAIT offers more than 4,200 awards to our students. Most awards fall under one of four categories:

ENTRANCE

Entrance awards are for students who are beginning a program. Some awards are for a specific program and others are open for students in all programs to apply. Information on entrance awards will be available in the fall when the Entrance Awards Guide for 2019/20 is posted on the Student Awards page at sait.ca.

GENERAL

Awards that are not linked to a specific SAIT academic school or program are called general awards. In most cases, any student in any program may apply for a general award if they meet the award’s criteria as outlined in this guide.

SCHOOL/PROGRAM-SPECIFIC

These awards are designated to a specific SAIT academic school and to a specific SAIT program. They take the form of bursaries, scholarships or prizes:

- Bursary: Financial need is the primary criteria used for selection but other criteria may also be included. See the Award Criteria section on page 5 for more information.
- Scholarship: Academic achievement is the primary selection criteria but other criteria may also be included.
- Prizes: Non-cash awards (such as plaques and medals) presented for a specific accomplishment (academic or non-academic).

GOVERNMENT FUNDED

These awards are issued directly by the Alberta government and details can be found by visiting studentaid.alberta.ca.
Award Criteria
SAIT awards are given based in whole or in part on the following criteria:

Academic achievement: A pre-determined Grade Point Average (GPA).

Financial need: Financial need is determined by assessing a student’s income and expenses for the academic year. Students receiving student loans may still be considered to be in financial need.

Community involvement: Participation in community events, volunteer commitments with non-profits and/or charities, and involvement in extracurricular activities such as sports or church. It is important to include as much information as possible about these activities in your application.

Note: Some awards may include additional criteria as specified by the donor. Some examples may include your family status, your heritage or your chosen profession. Please read the descriptions in this awards guide thoughtfully before you apply. Careful reading will help you determine whether you meet all of the criteria and ensure you apply only for the awards for which you are eligible.

General Information
WHO MAY APPLY?
If you are enrolled at SAIT as a continuous, full-time student or apprentice you may be eligible to apply.

I’M AN INTERNATIONAL STUDENT — AM I ELIGIBLE?
If you are a citizen of a country other than Canada and you have been accepted at SAIT on a student visa, you may be eligible for SAIT student awards. In order to collect a SAIT award, you must have either a Canadian Social Insurance Number (SIN) or an Individual Tax Number (ITN).

If you have questions about your SIN or ITN, you should contact the SAIT International Centre for more information and assistance. The Centre can also tell you about other awards that are available for international students. Email the Centre at international@sait.ca or visit room AA206 in Heritage Hall on SAIT’s Main Campus.

Some SAIT awards are only for international students, such as the Esmail Safana Farzana Fayaz Bharwani Foundation award; the Laughing Dog International Student award; and the International Students — Excellence/Community Spirit award. Find information about these awards in the General Awards section of this guide (pages 8 to 14).

Each SAIT award has a list of requirements called criteria. If you meet these criteria, you can apply for the award. If the award criteria list does not include a Canadian citizenship requirement, then all international students, Canadian students and permanent residents can apply for that award. See page 7 in this guide for more tips on understanding award requirements.

How to Apply
Applications are accessible through your Student account and can only be accepted online. Log in and look for the Student Awards and Financial Aid icon. Apply anytime, anywhere. It’s that simple. A tutorial assisting you through the application process is posted on https://www.sait.ca/admissions/tuition-and-financial-aid/student-awards as well. While this guide lists all available awards, you only need to complete the required sections of the application to be considered for many of the awards.

Application Deadlines
APPLY ONLINE AHEAD OF TIME!
Each award description in this guide includes important deadline information. Note that deadlines are firm and cannot be extended.

Application Tips
READ THE CRITERIA
The conditions for each award are called criteria. Read the criteria carefully for every award you see on the application form. Please do not apply for an award if you do not meet its criteria. This will save you time in completing the application.

A WORD ABOUT YOUR REFERENCES
Choose your references with care. Employers, religious leaders, community leaders, teachers and instructors can serve as excellent references. Ideally your references should have known you for a minimum of six months. Avoid using members of your family, best friends or roommates.

Please advise your references that you are applying for an award, and inform them of the specific criteria of that award so that, if required, they are prepared to explain why you are a suitable candidate. Your references should always try to talk about your current attributes and skills.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION
Because most awards require a financial needs assessment, you are required to fill out the budget calculator in the application form. The information you provide is combined with your cost of attendance (tuition and fees) and other factors to determine need. Please provide accurate information on monthly expenses and income. If you are unsure of exact amounts, provide an estimate. Please note that you may be asked to verify the information you provide.

ESSAYS, WRITTEN DOCUMENTATION AND SPECIALTY CRITERIA
For some awards, additional questions, documentation and/or essays are required. Please read these sections carefully and answer the questions as specifically as you can. It is best to provide as much detailed information as possible.
Where additional documentation is required, please submit it to the Student Awards office (AA113, on the main floor of Heritage Hall) or via email to scholarships@sait.ca before the award deadline. Be sure to include your name, SAIT student ID and program on each document.

If I win an award, how will I know?

SAIT Alumni and Development will notify students selected for awards no more than four months after the application deadline. Recipients will receive an email, a telephone call or a letter with information about when and how to pick up the awards package.

Tax information for scholarships and bursaries

Scholarships and bursaries are generally not taxable and are not reported as income on your tax return. In February, SAIT will issue a T4A through the mail. You will also need to complete the T2202A tax form (Tuition and Enrolment Certificate), which can only be accessed by students on mysait.ca.

If you are unsure of your tax status, contact the Canada Revenue Agency at 1.800.959.8281 or visit cra.gc.ca.

PLEASE NOTE

All information in this guide, including awards offered, the value of awards and the number of awards available, is subject to SAIT receiving funding for the awards listed. In the event that funding is cancelled, awards will be reallocated to a program area designated by Alumni and Development. If there is a discrepancy between the published award criteria or value and the official award documentation located in the Alumni and Development department, the official documentation is deemed accurate. Award criteria and values are subject to change.
International Student?
Use these examples for finding which awards you can apply for.

Ruth Falokun
THE DRIVING FORCE TO ACHIEVE A DREAM
Ruth Falokun knew that it was going to be tough going back to school — especially with a four-year-old daughter and newborn baby keeping her busy. But she was determined to see it through.
Falokun and her husband moved to Canada from Nigeria in 2014. With her background in civil engineering and her passion for engineering and the sciences, Falokun was excited about the professional opportunities she saw in Calgary.
“...There is not as much opportunity for female engineers and women interested in sciences back home and this work is what I have always wanted to do,” she says. Arriving in Calgary provided the perfect opportunity for Falokun to follow her dreams, but before she could begin her career the couple welcomed their first daughter in 2015.
A few years later Falokun made the decision to go back to school, and when she found out she was having another baby in 2018, she was even more determined to see her goal through. That’s when Falokun applied to SAIT.
With her background in engineering, she enrolled in the Welding Engineering Technologies program. “I heard so much about SAIT,” she says. “I talked to people in admissions and got such good vibes.”
Her family was thrilled about her return to school, but the cost of tuition, living expenses and daycare were putting a terrible strain on the couple’s finances and on Falokun’s ability to focus on her studies. “The first semester was so tense, I had to take out a student loan to keep going and win my dream.”
Then she received the Ian Maude Memorial award during her second semester. “It felt like we had been given breathing space — it was a true saving grace. I am here at SAIT because of this award. Receiving this has been life changing. With it I can achieve anything.”
Falokun says that the money from the award will go towards paying off her student loans and her children’s daycare. She hopes that her experience can be an inspiration to women like her. “I want to encourage women in engineering and pay it forward by setting up an award like this for someone else.”

[34] | Student Awards Guide 2019/2020 | sait.ca
SAIT offers some of the finest programs and has a reputation for highly commendable graduates. I am fortunate to be a student at SAIT. The funds awarded to me have helped so much, especially with the day-to-day living expenses and my children’s school needs. Truly this was such an amazing experience and great blessing for me and my family.

As a SAIT alumna, returning to SAIT for a career transition was one of the best decisions I have ever made. The expansion of SAIT’s campus over the past 20 years is remarkable, but it does not come close to the growth in professionalism of the industry-leading expert instructors and the quality of practical training.

Ashley Funk

THE TOOLS FOR SUCCESS

Ashley Funk never thought she would go back to school.

“I was so against school and against being told that you need that piece of paper to move forward,” Funk explains. But that all changed when she discovered SAIT’s Culinary Entrepreneurship program.

After high school, Funk briefly attended Mount Royal University before deciding to begin a career in the hospitality industry. Since that decision nearly 15 years ago, she has held almost every position possible in a restaurant. “I started as a prep cook then moved on to line cook and kitchen manager,” says Funk. “I’ve been a hostess, server and bartender too.”

Funk developed a passion for the connectivity and atmosphere of a restaurant and decided that one day she would like to open her own establishment.

After years in the industry, Funk had second thoughts about the importance of an education. “I have always said I have the experience necessary to open my own restaurant but lack the knowledge of how it actually runs,” she explains. And that is exactly what she has been learning in the Culinary Entrepreneurship program.

“The program is amazing. It puts so many tools into your toolkit!” Funk says. “Honestly, I joke and say this program was made for me,” she explains. “But I feel like it was. It is perfect, and I am learning so much about the industry and about myself, and my confidence has increased immensely!”

Things got even better when Funk received the Willow Park Culinary Entrepreneurship Award.

“Before I enrolled I had no savings and no money,” explains Funk, who took out student loans to pay for living and tuition. Thanks to the award she no longer needs to work full-time hours while attending classes. “I’m not worried about how I will begin to pay off my student loan,” she says. “I can continue to focus on my studies here at SAIT without financial stress.”

Funk has a dream of opening a Speakeasy cocktail bar, a vision she is building through her experience at SAIT.

Carmen Cundy

SHARING WITH THE WORLD

Carmen Cundy felt that the traditional model of post-secondary education had failed her — her GPA was suffering, and her mental health was taking a hit too.

As a passionate storyteller who feels inspired by the written word, she wanted to pursue a career in writing. But after four years of part-time university studies, she felt like she wasn’t on the right track to achieve her goals.

“I felt uninspired and lost in a sea of students rushing to and from lecture halls,” she explains. “I knew that I needed to try something different if I was ever going to get my degree.”

That’s when Cundy discovered that she could work on a journalism diploma at SAIT and it would count toward a Bachelor of Communication and Media Studies degree at the University of Calgary.

“It was exactly what I was looking for. When I started at SAIT in 2017, I immediately felt at home on campus,” she says.

Cundy was able to pick up valuable experience as a part-time lifestyle writer at The Week, SAIT’s student-run newspaper, and was amazed by the support she received from her SAIT instructors. During her time at SAIT, Cundy maintained a 4.0 grade point average and became a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honour Society.

On top of all this, Cundy received the David Pommer Excellence in Writing Award for her outstanding work in the Journalism program.

“This award has not only given me a leg up financially, it has also given me confidence and the reassurance that I am more than just another face in the crowd,” Cundy says. “I felt that I had been recognized for the first time in my post-secondary career and that I was finally on the right path.”

Thanks to her student award and her experiences at SAIT, Cundy feels confident that she can make a name for herself as a writer.

“I have the opportunity to share my stories, thoughts and ideas with the world.” Cundy says.

Raymond Becker

AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE TECHNOLOGY

Lying in bed at 2 am on a sleepless night, Raymond Becker made up his mind to make a big change.

Becker, 30, had spent a number of years working in an office as an IT specialist — a career he always felt he would enjoy. But things weren’t turning out like he had hoped. He felt burned out, unhappy and restless.

“IT work is my passion but I didn’t enjoy it as a job,” says Becker. “I hit a moment where I was so unhappy with my career.”

Becker felt working in the trades might be the right move. He had thought about a trade before but an allergy to wood had ruled out his interest in carpentry. When Becker came across the Automotive Service Technology program at SAIT, he was drawn to the apprenticeship training and hands-on experience the program offered.

“The program looked like the change I was searching for,” says Becker. “I had no experience in automotive technology, and the program was the best way to make me employable.”

And so, that night at 2 am, he decided to apply to SAIT.

Losing his steady income and going back to school was a frightening thought for Becker, who had a mortgage, car payments and other expenses to maintain. “It was going to be a stretch,” he explains. “All the planning in the world can’t prepare you for life’s expenses.”

Despite trying to stay within a tight budget, Becker had to take out student loans to keep afloat. “It was getting pretty drastic,” he says. “I was deciding which of my personal items I was going to sell to continue school.”

Things turned around when he received a student award.

“I can’t explain the relief of knowing it was going to be okay,” he recalls. “It was reassurance that I had made the right decision.” Becker used the funds from his award to purchase tools for his career and pay bills during his final semester.

Becker is currently working Saturdays at the BMW Gallery Dealership in Calgary — a job he very much enjoys — and has been offered full-time work after graduation.

Receiving this award came as a pleasant surprise late in the semester as my dwindling funds were becoming a stress trigger. This award will allow me to fully concentrate on studying for final exams without worrying about finances and expenses. I will use the funds towards purchasing necessary items directly related to my studies.

Criteria:  • Second period or higher  • Financial need  • Academic achievement  • Attitude  • Aptitude
Deadline: May 30

I have never received an award like this before and am very honoured. I grew up in a poor community and was unable to attend post-secondary due to finances. Now that I am older, I finally have the opportunity to complete my education, and this award will help me toward the next year of my apprenticeship. Thank you very much.

As a mature student, it was quite a burden to return to school while supporting a family with three children. Every little thing can make a big difference when you are trying to complete your program while also supporting a family. I hope that you will continue to provide for future students as it really does make a difference! Thank you!
